Hector: Cat About Town
Notorious Gossip

Wife: "Dear, I saw the sweetest, cleverest little cat downtown to-day."

Hubby: "Put it on; let's see how you look in it."

Admirer: "So you read the ladies' page too, do you? But boy, oh boy, oh boy, you ought to have seen the full length picture."

Said the Dowager, as she watched the crowd busily enjoying themselves: "In my young days shaking in one's shoes was a sign of timidity, but now it is merely a new dance!"

"Oh, how could you! You've been running around with other women!"

"My dear, I'm afraid you've been hearing things."

"Exactly, You talked in your sleep last night."

Housewife: "How did you come to write a short completion on the country begging?"

Tramp: "It's a long story, mum, and it's now in the hands of my publishers. I'm on my way to London to correct the proofs."

The teacher had asked her class to write a short composition on the subject "Water."

"On" member seemed to be having difficulty, but finally he turned in his paper, and here is what he wrote:

"Water is a light-coloured, wet liquid which turns dark when you wash in it."

A farmer, who went to a large city to see the sights, engaged a room at a hotel, and before retiring asked the clerk about the hours for meals.

"We have breakfast from 7 to 11, lunch from 12 to 3, and dinner from 6 to 8," explained the clerk. "Look here," inquired the farmer in surprise, "what time am I going to see the town?"

"Have you noticed a very odd thing about blunt people?" Jones asked his friend.

"Can't say that I have," said the latter. "They are certainly rather embarrassing at times."

Jones nodded pensively. "Yes, but hasn't it ever struck you that they are the ones who generally come to the point first?" he said.

PRINCE PAUL OF YUGOSLAVIA

In London With Princess Olga

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 20.

The Duke of Kent welcomed Prince Paul of Yugoslavia and his wife, Princess Olga, sister of the Duchess of Kent, when they arrived at Victoria Station last night from Paris. The Prince and Princess are on a three days' visit to England, primarily for the purpose of seeing the Duchess of Kent and her infant son. They left the station in the Duke's car, and, after going to their hotel, visited 3, Belgrave Square, where they remained for dinner.

On their arrival at Dover earlier in the evening the Royal visitors were welcomed by officials of the Yugoslav Legation in London.

OLD RELICS SOLD

Marquis Of Breadalbane's Collection

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 19.

A number of old and interesting relics which belonged to the Marquis of Breadalbane were offered for sale by auction yesterday at Dowell's Rooms, Edinburgh. Many of them fetched fairly good prices, and among these was a basket, hit sword, made by Macnab, the smith at Dalmeida. This sword, which is similar to the sword in the portrait of The Marquis by Sir Henry Raeburn, was sold for £9 5s.

The Macnab blunderbuss, which has a walnut stock and was made by Bunney, of London, was sold for £8 15s, but the highest price in this collection was 14 guineas for a pair of old Highland pistols with ram's horn butts and stocks damascened with oblique bandings of silver.

Other articles sold included a German executioner's sword, dated 1874, which obtained five guineas, and a Neapolitan rapier which was sold for £8 16s 6d.

A French flintlock sporting gun of Louis XVI's time, dated 1780 and described "Arquebuseur du Roy et du Monsieur" was sold for £11 6s 6d. It had double steel barrels damascened in gold with rosette ornamentation.

Among the collection of furniture the outstanding price was £21 5s, which was paid for a set of five George III. mahogany chairs.

IONA COLLEGE SCHEME

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 19.

It is understood that the proposal of the American Iona Society to build a Celtic College on the Isle of Iona has been given up in favour of another scheme, which will involve the choice of a mainland site for the college and the further restoration of the cathedral and other ecclesiastical buildings on Iona. A committee is to meet in Glasgow next week under the presidency of Mr. Angus Robertson to consider the report of Colonel Fordyce, honorary secretary of the American Iona Society, of his visit to Iona last August. The report gives authority to the Glasgow Committee to proceed at once with the choice of a mainland site for the college, to enter upon the necessary business negotiations, and to consider plans and estimates of cost. It is also proposed to seek the permission of the Iona Cathedral Trust further to restore the cathedral and other historic ruins on Iona. It is learned that five possible sites for the new college have been inspected by Colonel Fordyce, and on his advice the Iona Society have rejected one, leaving the committee in Glasgow to make the selection of any one of the remaining four.

BRITAIN'S NOVELTY FAIR

Non-Polishing Brass: Type-writers In 80 Languages

Scientific efforts on the part of British manufacturers to cater for overseas markets have always been a feature of the post-war British Industrial Fair. Advance information from exhibitors in the 1935 Fair shows that the tendency has been greatly developed in the last twelve months.

There is, for example, an increasing export trade in British furniture which was formerly almost entirely made for the home market and the section of the Fair devoted to it will be the largest and most representative of the industry in the whole history of the Fair. Many of the makers mention in their catalogues that their products will be built on what they term the "K.D." principle, meaning that they can be "knocked down" for packing into small compass and easily assembled by the importer thereby obviating heavy freights for bulky consignments.

JAPAN'S PRICES "CUT"

Pottery manufacturers have spent money on the invention of special stoppers which prevent the possibility of evaporation in warm climates. Pottery makers, jewelers and others are making special designs for each country which they intend to approach. The potters are showing a full range of all they make, from luxury china-ware to utility earthenware, and there will be important groups from Birmingham and Sheffield as well as London amongst the jewellers, plate and cutlery exhibitors. A famous typewriter firm has perfected its plant so that it can supply keyboards in eighty different languages. It is interesting to note that some of the oldest houses in Britain, with "established reputations" for a couple of centuries or more, are among the most enterprising in this respect.

The scientific attitude now permeates every branch of British industry, which has contrived to remain surprisingly youthful. It is being applied more successfully than ever to costing and marketing problems, with the result that prices at the 1935 Fair will be found to be thoroughly competitive. One manufacturer of fancy paper goods is able to quote lower prices than even the Japanese, who formerly had almost a monopoly of the trade. So with other industries.

DAIRYMAN'S GODSEND

One of the best known firms in England is making special dinner sets not only for the separate Empire markets, but for the Scandinavian and other countries where tariffs have to be met. Another house in the same industry is breaking down opposition in protected markets with an exquisitely decorated ware, produced in a small factory dating from the 17th century. A new and secret thermo-lithographic process for the designs makes it possible to sell this high-grade product at a price which cannot be challenged.

Originally it is so marked in a hundred different trades that at first glance one might imagine that 1935 is to be a "novelty" Fair. Actually the gadgets, as they may be called, are never produced for their own sake. They all have a strictly utilitarian basis. One highly specialised firm, whose main business is to make "colour measuring" instruments, has invented a device which provides a quick and sure method of determining whether milk has been properly pasteurised—a godsend to the modern dairyman.

COMBINED MOIST AND SMELL CHASER

Sheffield scissor manufacturers, following much thought and research, have produced flower-gathering and other pruners which will reduce expenses and increase efficiency in horticulture. The organisers of the composite Scientific Instrument and Optical Exhibit, which is to represent the principal British optical and scientific instrument firms, are proud of a new micro-chemical balance for weighing billion to a 1/1,000th part of a milligramme without calculation. Not many of us have billion to be weighed out, for those who have, accurate is well worth paying for.

This instrument is characteristic of the progress of the British scientific industry, which has trebled its space at the Fair in the last five years, and will occupy 3,400 square feet in 1935. Such rapid strides have been made that the whole world can be supplied by British makers with every type of scientific instrument of the finest quality, except for certain highly-specialised equipment, and at a cost below that of foreign products. It may be mentioned that the optical glass makers are displaying a model of the Eddystone Lighthouse which will be one of the most interesting advertising features at the Fair.

Science has not neglected the housewife. Brass ornaments and utensils are likely to become more popular than ever as the result of the invention of a new process of chromium plating, which reduces the cleaning of brass, always a household bugbear, to a minimum. Polishing is no longer necessary. A new antidote is available which serves the double purpose of chasing the moths away and dispelling cooking and other kitchen odours.

GOLF IRON WHICH REPLACES THE CADDY

For the women, too, there is an infinite variety of accessories made specially for overseas feminine requirements—handbags, brushes, jewellery, non-tarnishable beauty sets, combs, and all the other necessities. The largest firm of comb manufacturers in the world, by the way, is in Aberdeen, and nobody will be surprised to learn that they have applied the small tooth comb to the price question.

Modern sports and the pursuit of health in the open air have led to the creation of a great new industry in which millions of pounds of capital are sunk. Picnic, camping, hiking and motor-ing equipment is being produced in immense quantities, and the requirements of the warmer climates have been carefully studied. One firm alone will exhibit more than 100 different types and sizes of tents and rucksacks. New ideas in the manufacture of game accessories are being applied, and a Yorkshire firm, long associated with cricket, has produced a leg guard of improved design which fits more effectively and comfortably.

One of the brightest sports inventions is the production of a golf iron which is claimed to be "seven perfectly matched clubs in one." The club, fitted with a steel shaft, has an ingenious adjustable head, which at a turn of a thumb screw can be converted in a second into a putter or any one of six "off the green" irons. This is not a freak, but a practical piece of workmanship which has been tested in several markets for three years before being offered for sale. Its advantage in weight reductions is obvious. Caddies are dispensed with.

HOW CHRISTMAS CARDS AND SKIPPING ROPES HAVE "GONE MODERN"

Improvements and innovations continue to be made in the office appliances, and the paper and printing trades. One firm of penmakers has overcome the difficulty of renewing fountain pens, a job which usually requires an expert. It has produced a patent consisting of a combined nib and feed which screws into the nib section of the pen, the change taking only a few seconds. The pen should be of special value in countries where there are few repair depots. For those who prefer the ordinary pen, there is a new nib which, it is claimed, will write a four-page letter with one dip in the ink-pot.

Advertising-tapes, wrapping papers, and the hundred-and-one other things so necessary these days for business efficiency all show enterprise and intelligence on the part of the makers in meeting ever-changing conditions

ENGINEERING AND BUILDING

MODERN WELDING

Temperature Of I.C. Engine Inlet Valves

It is not generally realised how exacting are the heat conditions that pistons and valves have to withstand. An experience of the chief engineer of Barimar, Ltd., of London, who recently visited the test-house of a well-known firm of Diesel engine builders, may enable readers to appreciate the success of the metallurgical chemist in evolving metals that will stand up to high temperature for long periods.

During inspection, there was noticed a phenomenon regarding which we have not seen any mention made previously. On one engine the air intake manifold had been removed for convenience, and it was therefore possible to see the underside of the inlet valves, all of which were dull red. The engine was carrying a normal load, and the speed was only 1,200 r.p.m. The designer stated that the inlet valves always attained a red heat, and volunteered the opinion that the incoming air was insufficient to keep the valves cool. He added that on this particular design of engine the exhaust valves did not attain the heat reached by the inlet valves.

In the light of this experience, it is hardly surprising that valve seats are usually the first part of an engine to require the attention of the welding engineer.

PAPER - MAKING

World's Largest Calendar Rolls

Messrs. Miller and Co., Edinburgh, have just completed a stack of eight calendar rolls for a paper-making machine, which, when erected, will be the largest and widest in the world. These chilled iron rolls have been made for the machine in the Kemsley Paper Mills, Sittingbourne. Only three firms in the world, quoted for the work—Krupps in Germany, an American concern, and Messrs. Miller, who had already made rolls for the largest paper-making machine in Europe, 280 in. wide. The rolls for the Sittingbourne mill are 310 in. wide, to produce a 300 in. wide sheet of paper, and the capacity of the machine will be 1,000 tons of finished paper a week. The bottom roll, which is 36 in. in diameter and solid, weighs 43½ tons. The second roll, 24 in. in diameter, has a 3 in. hole for steam-heating, bored through its centre from end to end, and weighs 18 tons. Above these on top of each other are six 20-in. rolls, bored like the second, and each weighing 12 tons. The rolls were all cast in deep pits, and were finished with such precision that a light passed along behind two rolls lying on the top of each other could not be seen between them.

In an ever-widening market, Christmas cards, of which there will be an imposing selection ten months ahead of time, have become modernised like many other old institutions. Gone are the robin and the gummy snowflakes. In their place are beautifully printed reproductions of the works of contemporary artists. And the space for the greetings will be printed in any spoken language.

As for the Christmas toys, they grow more mechanical every year and keep pace, at a miniature mileage and speed, with the machines of the ages of land and air. There are model railway trains whose engines have tremendous hauling power for the size. Blue Bird cars that whizz across as wide a salt bed as mother will stand for, and Comets that fly as easily across a field as Scott and Black covered the distance to Australia. The girls have skipping ropes with ball bearing handles.

I wonder what their grandmothers would have said?

PROJECTS IN THE FAR EAST

SHIPBUILDING MATERIALS FROM ENGLAND

The China Merchants' S.N. Company has decided to construct a 5,000-ton vessel for the Yangtze, cost estimated at $1,000,000. The company has £35,000 left from Boxer Fund money allotted for the purchase of the s.s. "Hai Yuan," "Hai Heng," "Hai Li," and "Hai Cheng" from England. It is proposed to use this money for the purchase of materials from England, and to borrow $500,000 from Chinese banks for the purpose of building the vessel in China. Tenders will be invited immediately if the negotiations with the banks are successful.

CHINA TELEPHONE EXTENSIONS

Elaborate plans for a network of long-distance telephone wires along China's trunk railway lines have been worked out by the Communications Ministry. Work will be started along the southern section of the Tientsin-Pukow Railway before the end of this year, and work on the line along the Peiping-Hankow and the Lunghai Railways is to commence immediately. In order to connect the telephone service between the Lunghai and the Tientsin-Pukow Railways, an exchange is to be erected in Hsuechow, Kiangsu. Work on the trunk telephone service along the Shanghai-Nanking Railway is already in progress.

SUGAR FACTORY FOR FUKIEN

In view of the rich production of sugar cane in Southern Fukien, the Fukien Provincial Government proposes to establish a large-scale sugar factory and refinery at Lungchi. The director of administration of Fukien has been instructed to secure an area of from 50,000 to 100,000 mow in the districts of Man-an-Chang-pu and Lungchi (Southern Fukien) for cultivation of cane.

UPPER YANGTZE NAVIGATION

Blasting operations for the removal of dangerous rocks in the Upper Yangtze, which are impeding navigation, have been asked for by Gen. Chang Kai-shek. In view of the enormous labour and expense involved, the Government has decided to send engineers to make a thorough investigation.

NEW SOVIET NAVAL BASE

Construction of a new Soviet naval base at Posset Bay, in an inlet south of Vladivostok and near the Korean border, is under way. Large quantities of materials for the building of the new base are being assembled at Vladivostok.

CANTON-SWATOW RAIL LINK

Kwangtung military authorities are taking steps for the construction of a railway joining Canton and Swatow. The cost is estimated at about $15,000,000. There was a suggestion to apply for a portion of the British Boxer Indemnity Funds, but this plan was ruled out owing to the fact that the Ministry of Railways would have no control over the proposed line, which is purely a provincial project. At present people travel between Canton and Swatow by boarding coasting steamers at Hongkong.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC PLANT FOR KIANGSI

The Chinese National Economic Council is reported to have sanctioned a $1,500,000 loan contract for the construction of a hydro-electric plant in Kiangsi province.

MOTOR CAR FACTORY FOR CHINA

The Nanking Ministry of Industries has submitted a detailed plan to the Government for the establishment of a motor-car works.

LARGE HOSPITAL FOR SHANGHAI

Construction of a U.S. $500,000 hospital and nurses home near Shanghai has been authorised by the National Council of Episcopal Churches of America. The plans call for combination of the facilities of St. Luke's Hospitals, but do not mean discontinuance of service of either. The building plans include an eight-storey hospital and five-storey Nurses' Training School. The new hospital will contain approximately 270 beds.

DAIREN AERODROME

Construction of a new macadam flight way extending over 600 metres forms one of the improvements of the Dairen aerodrome to be undertaken this year. Other improvements include the construction of a macadam flight way of 682 metres long 40 metres wide, ultimately extending to 900 metres long and 60 metres wide, at a total expenditure of ¥200,000 on a three-year plan, the equipment of flash lights for night service, equipment for aeroplane inspection, and the establishment of signal posts between Dairen and Antung. It is also reported that the year's appropriation asks for the establishment of a new aeronautic wireless station at a cost of ¥87,000. The Dairen aerodrome is one of the most important terminals in the air route between Japan and Manchuria.

CHINESE RAILWAY PROGRESS

The construction of the Wuhu-Nanking railway is making rapid progress. Rails are already laid on this end for a distance of more than twelve miles, and the engineer-in-charge promises to have trains running to Nanking before the end of the year. The contractor, a Tientsin firm, has brought labour from Shantung. The Nanking Ministry of Railways has approved an application from the Hunan-Hupeh Railway Administration for an appropriation of $3,000,000 for the replacement of sleepers, rebuilding of locomotives, and other necessary repairs for the railway.

Direct railway communication between Canton and Hankow, a project started over 25 years ago, is expected in a year's time. The section from Pingshek, in northern Kwantung, to I-Chang, in southern Hunan, probably will be completed in May.

I-Chang is linked to Chuchow by an excellent highway, and when the Pingshek to I-Chang section is completed, the journey from Canton to Hankow by rail and road will take only about three days. When the entire section between Pingshek and Chuchow is completed, the trip by express will require only 30 hours. The line will run through several of the most prosperous provinces in the country, and is expected to lead to a considerable improvement in trade. It will link Canton not only with the Yangtze ports, but also with Peiping and even Europe via Siberia.

FOULING AND CORROSION

It is a remarkable fact that a visit to the brackish waters of the Yangtze is almost as good as a docking for removing growths from ships' bottoms. This point was made by Commander J. L. Bedale, R.N., in dealing, before the Society of Chemical Engineers, with "Some Problems of Chemical Engineering which arise in H.M. Navy." All the dry docks of the world were filled for the greater part of the year, he said, not with ships requiring repairs, but simply for the removal of barnacles. It had been estimated that 20,000,000 tons of iron and steel were dissipated annually in the form of rust, and if a similar estimate were made of the losses due to fouling, the result would be equally astonishing. The problem of reducing this loss had engaged attention for centuries. In the past wooden ships were sheathed with copper, which was good in that the greenish-blue deposit collected by the copper, peeled off and took with it all vegetable and animal organisms that had attached themselves to it. Copper proved fatal however, when the iron ship came, owing to its galvanic effect on the plates. The next advance was the introduction in 1840 of anti-fouling paint—efficacious to some extent, but still leaving the problem unsolved. In general the ideal substance would be a compound which would gradually peel off, in the same way as copper, but a factor often overlooked, though it tended to give misleading results, was the action of brackish water—the fresh water having a tendency to disagree with certain forms of marine growth, whilst the salt water was equally unsuitable to fresh water forms of fouling.

DEATH OF MR. F. MITCHELLA Great Sportsman

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 17. The death occurred at Blackheath on Friday night at the age of 63 of Mr. Frank Mitchell, one of the most accomplished and versatile sportsmen of his time. He was captain of both the cricket and Rugby football teams at Cambridge, and later captained England at Rugby football and South Africa at cricket.

Born in Yorkshire, and from his earliest youth brought up in the spirit of village matches in that county, he had a great success as a schoolboy at St. Peter's, York, where he was captain of cricket. Rugby football, and rowing. He spent three years at Greyfriars, Brighton, before going up to Corpus College, Cambridge, at the age of 21. As a Freshman he at once got into the cricket and Rugby football sides. He played four times against Oxford at Lord's on each occasion, except in 1896, going in first, and his highest score was 43, in 1895. When captain in 1898 he came in for undeserved criticism for instructing Shilke to bowl no-balls in order that Oxford should not follow on, and the discussion that followed led to an alteration in the law. A powerful forward, he played Rugby football for his University against Oxford in 1893-94-95. He also put the weight for Cambridge in 1896, and it was said that if he had so chosen he could also have kept goal for the University. He took honours in the Classical Tripos.

PLAYED FOR YORKSHIRE
He first played cricket for Yorkshire in 1894, and during the winter of 1898-99 he did so well as a member of Lord Hawke's team in South Africa that he was given a regular place in the Yorkshire eleven in 1899. At a time when Yorkshire was resplendent with great players, he was one of the most illustrious and valuable. He last appeared for his county in 1904, having scored 4,090 runs with an average of 34.35. In 1897 and 1901 he went to America in teams captained by B. J. T. Bosanquet and P. F. Warner respectively, and served in the Boer War with the Yorkshire Hussars. Business in South Africa kept him out of cricket for some time, but he came over to this country as captain of the South African team in 1912. He saw service in the Great War in the Royal Artillery (T.F.). As a batsman he was essentially of the robust type, who believed in hard driving, particularly to the off side, and as a Rugby forward he was a great worker and a grand tackler. A man whose name in his time spelt hero worship to the young, he became in his later years a wise counsellor and an extremely astute judge of what was good and what was amiss in the games he had so adorned. He was never afraid to say what he thought, and to his friends he was always generous and loyal. He will be sorely missed at Lord's and the Rectory Field, where recently he had spent so much of his time.

Christian Science Lesson Sermon

Subject:—ADAM AND FALLEN MAN.

This will be the Lesson Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, to-morrow, November 10, 1935.

Among others, the following citations from the Bible will be read: "And the Lord God planted a garden eastward in Eden; and there he put the man whom he had formed." And out of the ground made the Lord God to grow every tree that is pleasant to the sight, and good for food; the tree of life also in the midst of the garden, and the tree of knowledge of good and evil. (Genesis 2: 8, 9).

The Lesson Sermon will also include the following passages from the Christian Science textbook: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

Genesis 11:16, 17. And the Lord God (Jehovah) commanded the man, saying: "Of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat: but of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou

"Here the metaphor represents God, Love, as tempting man, but the Apostle James says: 'God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempteth He any man.' It is true that a knowledge of evil would make man mortal. It is plain also that material perception, gathered from the corporeal senses, constitutes evil and mortal knowledge. But is it true that God, good, made 'the tree of life' to be the tree of death to His own creation? Has evil the reality of good? Evil is unreal because it is a lie,—false in every statement." CINEMA TRADE NOTICES

GREAT EXPECTATIONS

One of the most distinctive pictures of the year is "Great Expectations," the Charles Dickens novel Universal so faithfully and entertainingly transcribed to the screen. It opened yesterday at Star Theatre.

Of all the Dickens stories, "Great Expectations" is acknowledged to be the best its author ever wrote.

It is to the credit of Universal to have turned out a masterly production of this highly interesting story. A story that embodies every phase of narrative, from high adventure to seething emotion. It is a picture for everyone in the family, from grandpa to grandson.

The most important thing about "Great Expectations" is that it is unique and highly dramatic entertainment. A truly superb-cast headed by Henry Hull, Phillips Holmes, Jane Wyatt, Florence Reed, Alan Hale and George Breakston, makes this one of the really outstanding pictures of this or any other time.

Hull, foremost interpretive actor of the American stage, is astonishing in his many and varied characterizations. He gives a memorable performance. Individual honors are scored by Holmes. Miss Wyatt, Miss Reed and others in an exceptionally large but noteworthy cast.

Suavi Walker, the director, has performed a difficult task with painstaking care and fidelity to the story. The screen play by Gladys Unger deserves commendation in that it has captured and retained the Dickens spirit throughout, while maintaining a modern tempo.

"Great Expectations" will meet every audience expectation!

PICTURESQUE CORSICA

"Brewster's Millions," Jack Buchanan's latest musical film, which is showing at the King's Theatre has well proved itself the most ambitious "musical" yet made in this country.

For the big scene of the film, a Corsican carnival in which more than a thousand revellers take part, the studio technicians constructed an exact replica of the market square at Ajaccio, the picturesque capital of Corsica. This huge set, comprising churches, shops, cafes and three-story dwelling houses, covered ten acres of the B. and D. studios and occupied the attention of a host of workers for many weeks.

Another sequence was filmed on the decks and bridge of a 1,500-ton luxury yacht, which the director chartered for a week's cruise in the vicinity of the Isle of Wight. A third set shows the interior of a Mayfair mansion of the grandest and most imposing kind, whilst a fourth depicts the kind of office suite that multi-millionaire captains of industry dream about in a palatial affair, all marbled, chromium plate and modernity.

THE DEVIL IS A WOMAN

"The Devil Is A Woman," Marlene Dietrich's new starring picture, next attraction at the Queen's Theatre.

Features two new Dietrich leading men, Lionel Atwill and Cesar Romero. The story of the picture centers round a heartless Spanish siren who gives many men her lips, but none her heart. Atwill, long a favourite of the stage and screen, plays Miss Dietrich's middle-aged lover. As an officer in the Spanish Army, he lavishes his fortune on the unfaithful girl, facing ridicule and the loss of his position for his smiles. When his young friend,

PUBLIC HERO NUMBER 1

"Public Hero Number 1," drama of war on crime showing at the Oriental Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Reproducing a "face lifting" operation by make-up, building a state penitentiary, filling running fights between gangsters and secret service operatives at a speed of seventy miles an hour.

Driving an automobile through a flooded river, these are just a few of the difficult location and technical details that went into the making of "Public Hero Number 1." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's drama of the fight of the secret service against organized crime.

Some of the most amazing thrills of automobile pursuit and battle ever filmed went into the new picture.

The story based on actual case of the life of the famous gangster John Dillinger and happenings in the government's war against organized crime.

"Public Hero Number 1," deals with the pursuit of a notorious public enemy by a Government operative. Much of the action occurs within a state penitentiary and its pulse-stirring episodes, including the sensational jail break, are said to be the most realistic and exciting scenes of prison life to be photographed.

The cast is headed by Lionel Barrymore, Morris Callie, Miss Arthur, Paul Kelly, Lewis Stone, Sam Baker, and Paul Hurst.

HOORAY FOR LOVE

Inspired by the age-old lure to become a theatrical producer a young college man crashes Broadway with a bang, in RKO Radio's "Hooray for Love" which features the popular favorites, Gene Raymond and Ann Southern, coming on Sunday to the King's Theatre.

Floored by his small capital by sharpers but undaunted by disaster, the "angel" fights on to success in his career and wins love as his reward in a smashing climax.

The light comedy plot is augmented by outstanding musical numbers featuring popular stars of the vaudeville and musical comedy stage. They include Bill Robinson, world's greatest coloured dancer, Jeni LeGon, coloured dancer, Maria Gambarelli, noted European and American ballerina, and Pert Kelton, comedienne.

In addition, Gene Raymond and Ann Southern present two song numbers that promise to become popular hits.

The uniting of Raymond and Miss Southern brings to the screen a romantic combination that will appeal to all types of picture fans. Both have been successful in recent pictures and Raymond broke many theatre records during a personal tour.

country which has already made world history. Haile Selassie, the country's Emperor, who has overnight become a picturesque, sensational figure in world politics, makes many appearances in the film. Intimate scenes of Selassie reviewing his troops, pictures of his sons and daughters in the ancient palace grounds are high spots of the production. Flying across the northern mountain defences of Selassie's kingdom, L. Wechsler, a Swiss, and Walter Mittelholzer, famous Swiss pilot, who made the first plane trip to Ethiopia by way of the Sudan, invaded the heart of this strange country and collected a complete picture of the African kingdom.

The royal family at Addis Ababa permitted the expedition to take camera shots of life at the ancient court of the King of Kings. Other highlights include scenes of the Lion of Judah's Army in sham battle which reveals their modern methods in open field maneuvers as well as anti aircraft warfare.

"AIR HAWKS" AT ALHAMBRA

Characterized by thrilling air action, intrigue and a romantic love story, Columbia's new drama, "Air Hawks" is showing to-morrow and Monday at the Alhambra with Ralph Bellamy, Wiley Post and Tala Birell in the leading roles.

Bellamy's stalwart characterization as the head of an air transport company, is one of his best, while Tala Birell, Columbia's imported "find," has one of the finest opportunities since her arrival in Hollywood to show her versatility as an actress. She unquestionably is climbing the ladder to screen stardom.

The story deals with two rival airplane lines, one headed by Bellamy, who are competing for lucrative airmail contracts. Bellamy's opposition will stop at nothing to gain their goal.

Through an underworld character, portrayed by Douglas Dumbrille, Bellamy's rival hires a crazed scientist who has perfected a deathray machine, which can cause destruction from almost any distance.

Placed at a strategic point, the machine wreaks havoc with Bellamy's planes, bringing them to earth in flame.

Tala Birell, at first the unwitting tool of Dumbrille, then finally the instrument of his doom, finds a sincere love for Ralph Bellamy during the trying days of the search for the executioner of the skies.

Together, they battle until victory is won. The ending is novel and a real surprise. Suffice to say that when they discover the source of the infamous murders, there is speedy retribution.

Wiley Post, famous round-the-world flier, is seen as one of Bellamy's pilots. Extremely interesting scenes are presented when Post flies a stratosphere plane across the continent.

The action is splendidly maintained, due to the brisk direction of Albert Rogell. For lovers of thrilling action, tinged with genuine romances, "Air Hawks" is a real treat.

An American visitor to Germany was being shown the objects of interest in the city of Frankfurt.

"The guide drew his attention to a statue."

"Who's that?" asked the American.

"That is Goethe," he was told.

"Goethe? Who was he?"

"He was the author of 'Faust'."

"The author of 'Faust'?" Oh, yes. And you pronounce it 'Goethe,' do you? In my country we say 'Goud'."

UNIVERSITY OF ABERDEEN

Appointment Of
Dr. W. Hamilton
Fyfe

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 20.
The King has been pleased to approve the appointment of Mr. William Hamilton Fyfe, M.A., LL.D., F.R.S.C., Principal and Vice-Chancellor of Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario, to be Principal of the University of Aberdeen in succession to the Very Rev. Sir George Adam Smith, M.A., D.D., LL.D., Litt.D., F.B.A., whose resignation will take effect on October 31.

The new Principal of Aberdeen University, who was born in 1873, is the third and youngest son of the late Mr. James Hamilton Fyfe, barrister-at-law. He is a younger brother of Mr. H. Hamilton Fyfe, the well-known war correspondent, editor, and author.

The new Principal is connected with Aberdeen through marriage. He wife is Dorothea, daughter of the late Mr. John Forbes White, LL.D., of Aberdeen and Dundee, and they have two sons and one daughter. A sister of Mrs. Hamilton Fyfe, Mrs. Macdonnell, widow of the late Mr. W. R. Macdonnell, lecturer in statistics in the University of Aberdeen, resides at Bridgefield, Bridge of Don, Aberdeen.

Mr. W. Hamilton Fyfe was educated at Fettes College, Edinburgh, and Merton College, Oxford. He has held the post of Principal and Vice-Chancellor of Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario, since 1930.

Previous appointments held by Principal Hamilton Fyfe include those of Principal of the Postmasters, Merton College, Oxford, 1904-19, and head master of Christ's Hospital, 1919-30. He is an honorary LL.D. of Queen's, Dalhousie, and the University of Western Ontario; a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada, and an Officer of the French Academy.

Mr. Hamilton Fyfe's publications include "The Minor Works of Tacitus—Translation," "The Histories of Tacitus—Translation," and "Longinus—Aristotle's Poetics (Loeb Series)."

AN APPRECIATION
Mr. Hamilton Fyfe comes to the duties of Principal of Aberdeen University with a fine record of administrative service. As early as his Fettes days he showed himself to be a person of great force of character which, nurtured in the happy atmosphere of Merton, made him one of the leading men of his day at Oxford, both in athletics and in the scholars' study.

During his tenure of office as Fellow and Tutor at Merton he enjoyed a fine reputation for sagacity, and it is common knowledge that, when they elected him to the head mastership of the famous Christ's Hospital, the Governors knew that they had obtained a man of very unusual ability.

His head mastership at Christ's Hospital was eminently successful. Few, however, thought of him as a University Principal, but when in 1930 he went to Canada with a large deputation of head masters from notable English and Scottish schools, headed by Dr. Cyril Norwood, now president of St. John's College, Oxford, he was offered and accepted the Principalship of Queen's College, Kingston, Ontario. He was succeeded at Christ's Hospital by Mr. H. O. Flecker, brother of James Elroy Flecker, the poet.

His administration at Queen's College has been remarkable for the strong individuality which he has brought to the problem of the Canadian University. It is certain that Canada will feel very severely the loss of this brilliant and gifted administrator, coming as it does when Canada needs men of experience and strong personality in the handling of her academic affairs.

The University of Aberdeen is to be congratulated on securing as successor to Sir George Adam Smith a man who will bring to the activities of the Northern University a sound grasp of affairs, a fine instinct in the handling of students, and a width of experience that cannot be otherwise than valuable in the highest degree.

MACDONALD AND THE ELECTION

Wants To Fight

Seaham

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Oct. 20.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald wants to fight Seaham at the General Election.

Left to himself he would do so. But his friends are trying their best to dissuade him.

They have advanced several arguments. One is their fear that the contest, which would be severe, would put too great a strain on his health. Though he is not seriously ill, his health is not what it used to be.

Another argument is that a defeat of Mr. MacDonald, an international figure, might be given a misleading significance abroad.

This argument has been reinforced by the threat of trouble in the coal industry, which will complicate the issue in the division. Seaham is a mining constituency.

A SAFER SEAT
If Mr. MacDonald can be persuaded that Seaham would be hazardous from the point of view of his health, it is understood that the possibility of his standing elsewhere would be raised.

So far he has turned down offers of safer seats, despite the pleadings of friends, including Mr. Baldwin.

A safer seat could still be made available for him.

WINGS OVER ETHIOPIA

While all of Africa has always been the easy prey of European powers, Ethiopia has successfully resisted the attacks of strange conquerors. Its geographic position, its mountains, and the fact that in the east and south it is surrounded by almost impenetrable desert, are all seen in Paramount's "Wings Over Ethiopia," mighty drama and first full-length picture of the time-honored country in the world-held audiences interested last night at the Queen's Theatre.

"Wings Over Ethiopia" is a colorful picture of Ethiopian life, customs and people in the dramatic

The Proven STOMACH REMEDY for Bad Cases

Amazing evidence of the remarkable speed with which indigestion and stomach pains can be stopped has been revealed by medical experiments and X-ray photographs of actual cases. These prove the ingredients of "Bisurated" Magnesia to be the quickest-acting and most effective known to medical science. Within 5 minutes a teaspoonful of "Bisurated" Magnesia in a little water produced complete relief in cases where numerous other remedies had failed entirely.

Its Action Explained—Simply take a teaspoonful of the powder in a little water. The moment this soothing draught reaches the tortured stomach it begins to soothe the raw, fermenting and inflamed food. The contents of the stomach become as bland and soothing as milk to the sensitive stomach lining. The pain quickly lessens and presently disappears. By following up the treatment after each meal, your harassed stomach will soon lose its tenderness and grow strong, until you can eat whatever you like and enjoy every meal, without fear of wind and pain.

A NOTED ENGLISH DOCTOR SAYS:

"I find that 'Bisurated' Magnesia taken after my meals is the only thing that keeps me free from pain and discomfort, and I take it regularly. I often prescribe it for my patients, and have had very good results."

ANOTHER DOCTOR SAYS:

"'Bisurated' Magnesia gives excellent results and is the ideal remedy for stomach pains and acidity. It is particularly recommended for Dyspepsia, Gastritis, Stomach Pains, Flatulence, and even Stomach Ulcers."

NEW TREATMENT FOR DOG BITE

Magistrate's Advice To The Public

A fine of $25 was imposed on Mrs. Slater, of Room 12 Airline Hotel, Kowloon, who appeared before Mr. E. I. Wynne Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, on an adjourned summons for allowing her dog in the Children's Playground, Middle Road, without a muzzle on October 28. A caution was administered on another summons for allowing the dog into the playground; the Magistrate adding, "It will cost you another $25 if that dog is seen there again."

It was stated that on October 26 the defendant's daughter and son, brought the dog into the playground. The animal playfully bit a boy, Waldemar Cers, aged five of 10 Humphreys Building. The boy was taken to the Kowloon Hospital. Mrs. Slater lost no time in getting in touch with the parents of the bitten lad, but failed to find them in when she called around at the flat. She therefore reported the affair to the Police.

The defendant's amah in evidence said that the amah of Waldemar Cers rubbed a silver coin on the wound and had thus lacerated the skin. There were ten odd amahs there at the time, who all agreed that if silver was put on the wound, the poison would be extracted.

Dr. J. V. A. Griffiths, Medical officer of the Kowloon Hospital who was called to give evidence in the case, said "Unless I was told that it was a dog bite I should never have recognised it as anything but a slight scratch."

Witness could not say whether the skin had been punctured by a massage movement of a silver coin.

"There was no blood, as it was not over deep enough for that."

The Magistrate said that according to the evidence he had heard, he must find that the dog did bite the little boy. Even if a dog were muzzled or on a leash and it bit someone, it would be considered to be unmuzzled or unleashed. In this case it had been said that a small boy (defendant's son) was left in charge of the dog at the time of the offence. He apparently did not look after the animal as he was not capable of doing so.

Dogs in the opinion of the Magistrate, were very dangerous animals, and it was not fair on the community if an amah were to look after a dog and children at the same time. The amahs invariably were too busy looking after the babies. There was a very simple solution to the problem. "Do not have a dog," said the Magistrate. That was the right answer or less one should be willing to take better care.

Mrs. Slater said that she was looking after the dog for someone else.

"It will cost you another $25 if that dog is seen there again," said the Magistrate, who went on to say that "this sort of thing is getting beyond a joke." So many people had told him that they were looking after dogs for some else and he would like to put a stop to this practice.

"I accept full responsibility," said Mrs. Slater.

"Believe me then Mrs. Slater," replied His Worship, "it is a very grave responsibility."

CASE HEARD IN CAMERA

Serious Charge Against Chinese

Proceedings were continued yesterday before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon in the case of Tsai Chi San, a 27 year old tram conductor charged with having committed a rape on his 17 year old mul girl, Li Tin Hi, in the second floor of No. 379 Hennessy Road on August 11 and 12.

Mr. E. H. Williams, Assistant Attorney-General, conducted the case for the Crown. Mr. Han Shing Lo instructed by Mr. F. E. Nash of Messrs. F. E. Nash and Co. defended.

Yesterday afternoon was taken up with the cross-examination of the complainant by Mr. Han Shing Lo in the course of which she stated that while she was staying at No. 379 Hennessy Road, her mistress had sometimes ill-treated her by beating her with firewood. She did not like to stay with her mistress, and when her mistress left for Taipei for her confinement she used to go out to buy food and other necessities for the household. She had absolute freedom so far as going out shopping was concerned. Other than that she was unable to give any reason why she was not to go out on other occasions.

HAD NO FRIENDS

She was not acquainted with any one excepting the inmates of house No. 379 Hennessy Road.

Mr. Lo: Who is your best friend in your master's floor up to the time you ran away?

Complainant: My best friend is Chan Lin.

Are you friendly with Luk Koo?

Not on very good terms.

And it was Luk Koo who advised you to run away?

Yes, she advised me.

At this stage Mr. Lo said that his defence was one of complete denial and then cross-examined the witness at length on the circumstances leading to the offence on the night in question. Asked why she did not call out when the offence was committed witness said that she was afraid to.

Witness then detailed the conversations she had with Chan Lin after the incident, and when further questioned by Mr. Lo complainant, said she was unable to recall the exact words used.

The case was again adjourned till Nov. 28 at 2.30 p.m.

WIFE GOES TO PRISON FOR HUSBAND

Without betraying her identity, a twenty-three-year-old Harburg woman has served a three weeks' sentence in prison on behalf of her husband.

She occupied a communal cell with nine male prisoners the whole time, and the pretence was not discovered until several days after her release.

A passing amateur photographer had unwittingly taken a photograph of the woman while she was working out of doors with the other prisoners. Noticing him, the woman resolved for safety's sake to get hold of the negative as soon as she got out of prison.

Her subsequent inquiries set going gossip which eventually reached the prison governor. The woman has been fined 50s. and her husband has been arrested.

SOLDIER DRIVER MINUS LICENCE

A Mishap And A Fine

Admitting a summons for driving motor-cycle No. 175 at Cheung-shawan Road without a valid driver's licence on October 24, Private Arthur Shord, of the Lincolnshire Regiment, was fined $10 by Mr. E. J. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday.

Traffic-Sergeant Paton stated that defendant was coming out of the barrack grounds at the end of Cheungshawan Road, when he knocked down an old Chinese man. The man was not seriously injured; he was taken to hospital and discharged the same day. When defendant was asked for his licence, he produced one for last year. The licence had since been renewed.

Defendant admitted the offence and stated he had just bought the cycle and was on his way to have the licence renewed. Defendant further admitted that he had been summoned for the same offence about two years ago. He had been driving for six years.

SINO-JAPANESE COOPERATION

To Develop Cotton Trade Of Both Nations

Osaka (By Mail).—The more vigorous the present-day international cotton war, the more closely should China and Japan co-operate to cement the foundation of their new cotton industry, which is a preliminary step toward economic recovery and prosperity of both countries, thus declared Mr. Wu Ting-chang, President of the Yen Yieh Bank and head of the Chinese Economic Mission to Japan, when addressing the Japanese Cotton Industry Association in Osaka October 15.

Mr. Wu advanced two principal reasons to explain the necessity of close co-operation between China and Japan's cotton industry. First, the increase of China's cotton production will supply Japan's need of raw cotton. Second, mutual help between Chinese and Japanese textile industrialists will give impetus to the development of the cotton industry of both countries.

COTTON PROBLEM OF JAPAN

Speaking on the raw cotton problem of Japan, Mr. Wu pointed out that she consumed about 13,550,000 piculs of raw cotton last year. Of this amount only about 1 per cent was produced in native lands, while about 50 per cent was imported from the United States, 35 per cent from India and 2 per cent from China.

China, Mr. Wu affirmed, has vast stretches of land most suitable for the planting of cotton. But as these areas have not yet been fully and properly developed, her present annual output of cotton, amounting to approximately 10,000,000 piculs, is barely sufficient to supply her own demand, far less the vast demand of her neighbouring state.

However, realizing the great possibility of increasing China's cotton production, China organized in 1933 the Commission for the Rationalization of the Cotton Industry under the National Economic Council charged with the improvement of the cotton industry.

The fertile areas along the valley of the Yellow River were marked out for cotton growing and improved American cotton seeds were used. As a result, cotton production during the past few years has made great improvement in both quality and quantity.

1931 OUTPUT

While the total output of cotton in 1931 was 6,396,789 piculs it had been increased to 11,201,999 piculs in 1934. The improvement in quality may be seen from the increase of the output of American-seed cotton. While the total output of American-stock cotton in 1931 was only 2,523,850 piculs, it had been increased to 5,785,581 piculs in 1934.

The total area of cotton fields in China, at present, according to Mr. Wu, is only 4,500 mow, while the total area of arable land in the 11 provinces most suitable for

POLICE SEARCH FOR GANGSTERS

Owing to recent activities of armed gangsters on the mainland, the police department yesterday combed the hillside and outlying districts.

Yesterday morning at five o'clock several Police officers and plainclothes men both European and Chinese, from the Central and other stations, made a search of Kowloon Tong, Shamshuipo and New Territories.

It is understood that one man was arrested in the Yau-mat district with fifty rounds of ammunition in his possession.

cotton growing measures 761,000-900 mow.

Mr. Wu expressed the confidence that under the supervision of the Commission for the Rationalization of the Cotton Industry, China's cotton fields will, within a period of 10 years, easily be increased to double of their present total area, and the annual output of cotton will be increased to at least 5,000,000 piculs. With the development of all of China's lands suitable for cotton growing China will, Mr. Wu continued, produce sufficient cotton to supply Japan's total annual demand, which amounts to 13,000,000 piculs, or at least to replace her present import of cotton from the United States and India, amounting to about 1,000,000 piculs, which have to be transported for thousands of miles by sea.

Turning to the mutual help between Chinese and Japanese textile industrialists, Mr. Wu scouted the fear of the limited scope of development of the Sino-Japanese cotton trade in view of its recent decline. The decline, he pointed out, is due to other reasons than the power of consumption of the Chinese and Japanese population.

MORE DEVELOPMENT NEEDED

Citing statistics, Mr. Wu said that the ratio of the number of spindles and the world's population is 1 to 10. The total number of spindles in China at present is only 5,000,000, or one spindle to every 100 people. On the other hand, a calculation of the population and spindles of both China and Japan combined shows that there are only 3 spindles to every 100 people. It is therefore obvious that there is a still plenty of room for the development of Sino-Japanese cotton trade.

For the development of China's cotton industry, Mr. Wu continued, Japan may especially render technical help. He paid a high tribute to Japan for her help in the promotion of textile art in China during the past and expressed the hope that this would be continued in the future.

In conclusion, Mr. Wu emphasized that the development of the cotton industry of China and Japan lies not in competition but in co-operation, and the revival and development of this industry is the key to national economic recovery and prosperity for both nations.

RETROSPECTION

The week just ended has, from a newspaperman's point of view, provided much "copy." Several important world events have taken place. Financiers as well as politicians are still kept in suspense as to how things would work out.

News from Geneva and the war front have given much food for thought. Although Anglo-Italian understanding is said to be on a more friendly basis, Italy appears to be somewhat adamant in that direction. It is still a matter of surprise whether or not Italy would withdraw some of her forces stationed in Libya.

The League's activities have been mostly confined to sanction measures and the latest news to hand is to the effect that Brazil would not join in the sanctions against Italy. This is not reassuring to say the least, and if the world is united in its support to the League to end war, then it is time that all nations, whether members of the League or not, should join in measures calculated to bring the war to an early end.

In some quarters the opinion is held that the League's machinery is not working fast enough. It has been said that before the League could get going, Italy would have achieved her object in Ethiopia. Be that as it may, we still hold the opinion that the League of Nations is adopting a very strong front to justify its existence and for that reason it is entitled to the fullest support from all countries.

In North China the situation is seething with excitement. Japan has again made numerous indefinite demands on China, and the situation is being watched by other powers with close attention. Among the demands made was one requesting the prompt resignation of Mayor Yuan Liang. This resignation was given by the Mayor himself on Nov. 3.

Mayor Yuan Liang, as all European residents in Peking would testify, is a man of sterling worth, and in the administration of his office, his chief concern was to improve living conditions for the masses in the former capital. He was fearless in suppressing rowdism created by the large population of Koreans resident in Peking. He came into disfavor with the Japanese authorities in July when he ordered the suspension of the "Far Eastern Times," a English daily operated by Japanese interest, and also when he requested the Japanese Consular authorities there to co-operate with him in the suppression of silver smuggling by Koreans.

The plan for the nationalisation of silver adopted by the Nanking Government has to a great extent aggravated the situation in the North. For obvious reason, Japan does not view the change with favour. It has upset her calculations, and there is a doubt in her mind that through Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, Britain has made a large loan to China. And with this loan, according to Japanese opinion, China is now in a position to reject all overtures which Japan may make.

Whatever attitude China may take towards Japan, the immediate pertinent consideration for China is the general attitude of the British people and their official and non-official representatives in China toward Sino-British relationships. There is no doubt that Great Britain believes in China's ability to hold an honoured place in the family of nations. British interests in China are based on trade associations which have a long and established record of achievement.

PREVENTING A WORLD CONFLAGRATION

BY RICHARD MANTLE

A sudden chill struck the hearts of thousands of British men and women when they first read the grimly significant words on the newspaper placards: WAR! True, the blow had fallen some thousands of miles away among the deserts of Africa. But the spectre of Serajevo still lurks in human memory. Modern conditions of interdependence among the nations bring what they are, there can be few who would attach much importance to the recent assurance of Mussolini that, if he were allowed a free hand, this war would remain just a pleasant little African scrap. Instinctively it is realised by the average person that the security of everybody is threatened. Our twentieth century world is not constructed in fire-proof compartments which can restrict the flames to a small and circumscribed area.

And now it is as though a homicidal lunatic had struck a match in a highly inflammable building. How are the other people in that building to act? One may perhaps think of locking himself in his room, until he reflects that the smoke and the fire may overwhelm him even there. Some of the more timid spirits may argue that it would be dangerous to do anything to irritate the maniac in his present mood. But the fact remains that, as long as he is left to his own devices, there seems no limit to the "damage" that he may start. At this stage a leader appears. "We're up against it any way," he says. "We shall all suffer if we do nothing. How about combining and restraining this lunatic? There's a risk, of course. Some of us may get hurt. But is it greater than the risk of letting this catastrophe overtake us all?" So the rest of the crowd agree to do as the leader suggests.

Here, on a small scale, we have a rough parallel to the present international situation. Short of jumping upon Mussolini before he struck his match in Abyssinia, the other League members could up to that time do no more than suggest to him every possible way of settling his grievances without violence. But now threats have given way to dangerous actions. It is no use reasoning with him any longer. The States who supported Great Britain at the recent Assembly of the League of Nations will be called upon to implement collective sympathy with collective action. Only by stopping the war as quickly as possible, and making it perfectly clear to everybody that aggression does not pay, will a return to international anarchy be prevented.

EXHIBITION AT OLYMPIA

Latest In Motor Transport

London, Nov. 7.

The Commercial Motor Transport Exhibition opened at Olympia to-day. The visitors include a large attendance of foreign buyers. The exhibits range from large coaches and lorries to small delivery tricycles, and include fire engines, ambulances and dust carts.

Diesel engines are in the ascendency, and electric vehicles also compete with petrol engines. Three-wheel tractors, which can be automatically coupled to detachable trailers, are prominent, offering a degree of manoeuvrability rivaling any horse-drawn vehicle.

One firm shows a street sweeper collector which looked like being as efficient on the roads as a carpet sweeper in a home. There are several fine examples of modern ambulance construction. Light vans are shown by a large number of makers and the special needs of every conceivable trade and its delivery requirements are provided for.

The crowds show particular interest in various "stripped chassis" exhibits showing details of transmission, as, for example, of a big rail car priced at £5,000 and driven by 230 h.p. Diesel engines.

NO INSULTING LETTERS

Greek Regent Warns Republicans

Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).

Athens, Nov. 7.

It is understood that the national assembly will be dissolved after the King's return, and that the general elections will be held on December 22. Republican leaders will not be permitted to participate in the elections without having first proclaimed their loyalty to the monarchist regime.

There has been some talk of entrusting the former President of the Republic, Zaimis, with the formation of a coalition government which would include some former republican leaders and serve the purpose of reconciling the still existing political antagonisms. This scheme however, was emphatically rejected by the present Government.

According to a statement published by a semi-official Greek news agency, Premier Kondylis declared that it would be preposterous to have a King who was re-ascending the throne by practically the unanimous request of the entire nation, to ask the approval of the so-called party leaders, who were merely representing themselves. Premier Kondylis went so far as to warn the republican leaders that he would have them arrested if they would dare address another "insulting letter" to the King.

STAVISKY'S RELATIONS WITH THE POLICE Sensational Disclosures By Pawnshop Keeper

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, November 8, 7.30 p.m.)

Paris, November 8.

The Stavisky trial provided a sensation on Thursday when the accused Cohen who was employed in the municipal pawnshop at Bayonne as keeper of jewellery and precious stones left as pledges, was called to give evidence.

Cohen admitted under cross-examination that he had intentionally over-estimated to the extent of 15 million francs, the value of jewellery deposited by Stavisky.

When pressed for an explanation on certain obscure points, Cohen began to talk freely about Stavisky's relationships with parliamentarians and more especially with the police whereupon the court ordered a supplementary investigation to be made into this matter separately.

Cohen said that he was often commissioned by Stavisky to hand valuable presents of jewellery to members of parliament and specifically named the late labour minister, M. Francois Albert.

To silence his conscience Cohen said that he wrote an anonymous letter to the police exposing the whole fraud whereupon, to his utter amazement, Stavisky appeared a few days later showing him the original letter and saying that if he could find out who wrote the letter he would "settle accounts with the writer."

This revelation of Stavisky's dealings with the police prompted the court to order a special enquiry into this matter also.

Efforts are also being made to ascertain where Stavisky got the parliamentary pass which entitled him to many privileges, among them being the right to park his automobile at the great horse racing events on the place reserved for the State President.

SEVEN HOURS OVERDUE

Fears For Safety Of Kingsford Smith

Singapore, Nov. 8.

It is feared that Sir Charles Kingsford Smith, who is seven hours overdue at Singapore, has been forced down in the sea somewhere in the Bay of Bengal between Rangoon and Victoria Point.

The Australian airman, C. J. Melrose, who left here this morning on the next stage of a solo attempt on the England to Australia record, states that he saw flames from the exhaust of Kingsford Smith's plane as he passed over him at 2 a.m. a hundred and fifty miles from land.

The Royal Air Force have sent out S.O.S. signals to shipping in the vicinity asking them to keep a sharp lookout and render assistance if necessary. In the meanwhile a squadron of bombers is preparing to leave on a search.

H. F. Broadbent, another Australian, who left England at the same time as Melrose on November 2, passed over Singapore at 1.42 a.m. en route to Batavia.

ELECTION CAMPAIGN

London, Nov. 7.

The outstanding feature of the election campaign so far is the smallness of the audiences at meetings, which is ascribed more to radio broadcasts of speeches than to apathy.

For example, Sir Samuel Hoare, Foreign Minister, when speaking at Chelsea, had an audience of only twenty-six people, of whom all but two were women.

Shrewd travelling observers predict that the Government majority will be reduced to 150, and they forecast possible casualties amongst prominent politicians.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, Lord President of the Council, is fighting tooth and nail at Seaham Harbour, where hooliganism has forced him to abandon several meetings. His son, Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, Secretary of State for the Colonies, is being hard pressed by the Labourites at Basestlaw.

Mr. Walter Elliot, President of the Board of Agriculture, at Clyde-side, and Sir Kingsley Wood, Minister of Health, at Woolwich, are both fighting a hard battle. All the other members of the Ca-

AIR TRANSPORT PROGRAMME

Empire Services To Be Improved

London, Nov. 7.

The first stage in the revision of the Empire air transport programme, with a view to an improvement in the present time schedules, increased frequency of services and conveyance so far as practicable of all first-class mail by air is completed by an agreement reached between the Governments concerned as to the general lines upon which the air service to South Africa will be operated after the expiry of the existing arrangements in 1937.

The main through service in each direction will be operated by flying boats via Egypt and Sudan to Kisumu and thence via Mombasa, Dar-es-Salaam, Mozambique, Bera and Lorenzo Marques to Durban. It is hoped that the time between London and Durban will be reduced to four days.

There will be branch services with land planes connecting Kenya, Tanganyika, Northern and Southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland with the through service. There will also be a branch land plane service between the Union and Northern Rhodesia, and by means of these branch services the existing land route through Kenya, Tanganyika and Northern and Southern Rhodesia will be maintained in addition to the coast route of the main service.

The agreement with Imperial Airways for operation of this and other trunk Empire services will be for a period of years commencing in 1937, and the subsidy payable will be on a descending scale, subject to periodic review of costs.

YOUNG COMPOSER PRAISED

London, Nov. 7.

Considerable interest has been aroused in musical circles by the performance last night, in a programme of the B.E.C. Queen's Hall concert, of the first symphony by a young composer of growing reputation, Mr. William Walton, who is still under 30.

The performance which was conducted by Sir Hamilton Harty, was very well received and music critics in the Press praise the completed work, the first three movements of which were performed last year, as full of invention and with passages of great beauty.

Walton is expected to retain their seats.

Opposition leaders who are confident of success include Major Atlee, the Labour Leader, Mr. Lloyd George and Sir Herbert Samuel, while Mr. Winston Churchill is expected to hold Epping.

BRIDAL BOUQUET LEFT AT TOMB

London, Nov. 7.

After the last visitor had left Westminster Abbey last night, Canon Donaldson, making his usual rounds in the dusk, discerned something white lying upon the tomb of the unknown Warrior. Investigating, Canon Donaldson discovered it to be a bunch of white flowers bearing a card inscribed: "From the Duchess of Gloucester."

It was her bridal bouquet that Canon Donaldson found on the warrior's tomb, her personal tribute to the memory of the Empire's war dead.

This incidentally was the first time she had used the title acquired by her marriage.

INVADING ARMIES ENTER MAKALE AND TAKE POSSESSION OF CAPITAL

Welcome From The Hilltops

NATIVES AND PRIESTS MEET VICTORS

Monkeys More Troublesome Than Abyssinians!

Asmara, November 8. A crowd of civilians waving white flags and shouting welcomes from the hilltop outside Makale gave the advancing Italians the first indication that their occupation of the Tigrean capital will be unopposed.

The commanding officers halted to receive contingents of natives bearing gifts of goats, chickens and eggs, while a procession of priests in full sacerdotal regalia met the victors, offering their crosses to be kissed.

The tricolour was hoisted over the Imperial Palace without any resistance being encountered after the Italian troops consisting of Ras Guza's men followed by General Broll's Black Shirts entered the town at 9 a.m.

Ras Guza, who had deserted to the Italian side early in the campaign, was then proclaimed governor of the town in the name of the King of Italy.

General de Bono in a personal telegram to Signor Mussolini declared: "Our flag which was hauled down at this post on January 22, 1896 flew here again at 9 a.m. to-day, thanks to the efforts of our Italian troops and gallant native allies."

The Italian airmen who had surveyed the position before the town was occupied reported that no large body of Abyssinians could be seen, the main concentration being considerably further to the south of Makale.

There is no indication that the Italians will meet with much determined resistance in the near future. In fact, an Italian military report says that monkeys are giving the troops more trouble than Abyssinians for they climb the telephone poles and tear down the wires as well as doing all sorts of mischievous damage to Italian encampments.

NORTHERN GAINS

Rome, Nov. 8. Italian irregulars and mechanised forces crossed the Setit River while the First Army Corps under General Maravigna completed the occupation of the Adlan region between Aksum and Setit.

It is believed that the Italians are opening the advance towards Gondar which is also foreshadowed in the encirclement of Tembien plateau and Simlen Massif which Ras Seyoum's forces are still holding.

The drive, if successful, will bring the Italians to the vicinity of Lake Tsana.

Asmara despatches state that a masterly column composed of Danakils occupied Asbi on the extreme left of the Italian advance.

EARLY CABLE NEWS

Addis Ababa, Nov. 7. Official sources here deny that Makale has already fallen to the Italian onslaught, though it is admitted that Italian concentrations in the hills overlooking the town are continually increasing.

Meanwhile, it is contended that Ethiopian guerilla fighters are continually working them in the night and retreating to hiding places in the hills in the day-time.

Government officials here are unwilling to state whether or not a determined attempt will be made to defend Makale but it seems certain that the entry of the Italians is now only a matter of hours.

READY TO ENTER

Asmara, Nov. 7. Italian troops had taken up positions this evening just outside the Ethiopian city of Makale, where Ethiopian forces are believed to be entrenched and waiting for the assault.

The Italian troops are expected to enter the city at dawn to-morrow.

EARLY OFFENSIVE PREDICTED

Barrar, Nov. 7. News reaching here to the effect that three large concentrations of Ethiopian troops are in the vicinity is believed to portend an early offensive against the Italians on the southern front.

It is learned that 40,000 Fannak or wild hunters, are advancing down the Juba River towards Dolo, near the Kenya border.

Another strong army is moving by forced marches towards Ogaden.

There are 30,000 creeping Gofas, famous for their fighting and stalking prowess, concentrated at Dire-dawa.

It is believed that these three forces are preparing to attack the Italian southern armies in order to offset the Italian advances in the north.

ADVANCE RESUMED

Rome, Nov. 7. The advance was resumed along the whole front at dawn on Thursday, reports General de Bono from the Northern Army Headquarters in the 39th official bulletin.

The native corps have overcome the resistance offered by a group of Abyssinians near Mountain Gundi in Geralla region. The second army corps have occupied an important centre in Seladaka west of Aksum, continues the report, adding that operations are being still continued in the Southern front where airplanes are rendering valuable assistance. It is now only a question of hours, declared all despatches from Italian war correspondents which appeared on Thursday's evening press, before the first division of Italian forces would enter Makale. The town is almost completely encircled, the only line of retreat for the Abyssinian troops being to the south in the direction of Umbaafagi, where apparently strong Abyssinian detachments have concentrated.

HEAVY FIGHTING

Addis Ababa, Nov. 7. Heavy fighting in Makale region is still continuing, according to latest reports received here which state that the Abyssinian troops, chiefly operating during the night, are meeting with considerable success and are still holding possession of the town of Makale. It is also added that the army of Ras Seyoum and Ras Kassa have not yet taken part in the fighting.

Further engagements are reported to have taken place in the south of Shibell river where the Abyssinians, it is stressed, are slowly retreating according to plan and after having repulsed three Italian attacks.

Big consignments of rifles and ammunitions are daily arriving here. Thousands of soldiers carrying cartridges have passed through the capital on Wednesday. The equipment of the troops are being steadily improved by large deliveries of rifles which are reaching Abyssinia via Berbera and Zella; it being estimated that about two hundred thousand rifles have been imported within recent weeks.

MOHAMMEDAN PLEDGE

One hundred and twenty Mohammedan leaders addressed a declaration pledging their loyalty to the Emperor on Thursday, and vowing readiness to support Abyssinia's cause with "life and property." The Negus has presented the Mohammedan community with a large tract of land in the capital on which a mosque is to be erected.

Takes Active Part In Fighting

Addis Ababa, Nov. 9.

The Abyssinian Crown Prince returned by plane from Headquarters at Dessie to Addis Ababa on Thursday afternoon, and was heartily welcomed by the Emperor and Empress on his arrival. During the absence of the Negus, who will probably leave the capital for Dessie some time next week, the Crown Prince will deputise for the Emperor and immediately ascend the throne should anything happen to the Negus.

According to reports received here from the Northern front guerilla actions on both flanks of the Italian Army and behind the Italian lines are being continued on an increasing scale. Near the Dero and Tambien region and west Aksum, numerous encounters took place between the Italians and guerilla bands, who are operating mostly at night.

Strong Abyssinian forces are marching northwards from Dessie and extensive operations are believed to be impending.

Some of the Abyssinian irregular forces, it will be recalled, are commanded by the Abyssinian Princess Waziro, who is partly of European descent. Before the war she led a solitary life in the mountains north west of Makale and knows the region exceedingly well. She always marches at the head of her troops carrying a rifle with fixed bayonet, and takes active part in the fighting.

ETHIOPIAN WAR EQUIPMENT

Improvement Now Noticeable

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1891. Received, November 8, 7.30 p.m.)

Asmara, Nov. 8.

A great improvement which has taken place in the Ethiopian war equipment since hostilities began has been much discussed by the military circles here whose information is based chiefly on weapons found when the Abyssinian troops retired or were carrying when captured.

When the campaign began the Abyssinian Army was believed to have only 200,000 rifles and a million or more obsolete models but in the meantime their equipment has been increased by 250 million cartridges, 200 small calibre guns, several hundred breach loading guns and 35 anti-aircraft guns with a calibre of 22 mm.

All their modern arms are of the best workmanship.

TRADE COMPLICATIONS WITH ITALY

Problems For Sanctions Committee

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1891. Received, November 8, 1.50 p.m.)

Geneva, November 8.

Numerous states have already sent in reports on their clearing accounts and trade balances with Italy in accordance with the request made by the Committee of Eighteen on Wednesday evening.

The French Government informs the Committee that no clearing agreement exists between the two countries but only a verbal agreement with the object of establishing certain equilibrium in the exchange of goods between France and Italy.

The prohibition of importation of Italian products which comes into force on November 18 would destroy this equilibrium and tend to make the liquidation of the outstanding sum of 150,000,000 francs due to France impossible.

The claims of Poland, which has no clear agreement with Italy, amount to about 12,000,000 lire. Sweden and Holland which have clearing agreements concluded on July 10 have about 13,000,000 lire and 1.4 million gulden due to them, respectively.

Rumania on the other hand, is 105,000,000 lire in Italy's debt under her varying agreement, leaving out of account goods now in transit.

SIAM'S ORDERS

In reply to a question on the current agreement, the Siamese Government states that in July this year it placed orders for nine torpedo boats and two minelayers. Eighty per cent of the price of the torpedo boats and 20 per cent of that of the minelayers had been paid before the date of October 19, fixed in the Committee of Eighteen resolution.

The Siamese Government adds that these orders were part of the country's naval programme and that the vessels were urgently needed.

GOVERNMENT POLICY CRITICISED BY LABOUR

Inadequate Support To League Nations

London, November 8.

Party organisers are waiting with considerable interest to discover whether there will be larger attendances at the meetings next week when there will be no political counter-attraction on the wireless.

The last of the series of twelve political broadcasts will be delivered to-night by the Prime Minister. Representatives of the National Government have been allotted five of these addresses, Labour Party four and Opposition Liberals three. This distribution was made by arrangement between the three parties and the reason that the series ends so far in advance of polling day is also the result of agreement between the political leaders, it having been felt that no section should have the right to the last word on the very eve of the poll.

The effect of the broadcast speeches on the attendance at political meetings is the subject of some discussion and in many constituencies it is believed that the voters have, to a considerable extent, preferred, to hear these speeches in the comfort of their own homes rather than attend the meetings.

The final labour broadcast address was given last night by Mr Herbert Morrison, who criticised the Government's foreign policy on the ground that inadequate support had been given to the League Nations and that various visits by the Ministers to foreign capitals represented a return to the pre-war method of secret diplomacy.

The effect of this, he said, was to weaken the status and authority of the league and to spread suspicion.

DEMAND FOR REARMAMENT

In reference to the demand for rearmament, Mr. Morrison said that the Labour Party was pledged to maintain the defence forces in a state of efficiency adequate to fulfil obligations at home and abroad, but would do their utmost to secure reduction of armaments by international agreement.

He attributed the diminution of unemployment to general improvement in world trade and departure from the gold standard rather than to Government action.

LABOUR GOVERNMENT

A Labour Government, he added, would proceed step by step to transfer ownership of land and great industrial undertakings from private persons to appropriate authorities so that the economic activities of the community should be efficiently organised for public industry and national advantage and not for private profit.

PREMIER EMPHASISES PEACE EFFORTS

London, Nov. 8.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Stanley Baldwin in a speech at Leeds, emphasised again the Government's decision to do all in its power through the League of Nations to bring peace in the world when peace came and he hoped it would come before too much harm was done.

They would have to make renewed efforts to remove the fear that hung over Europe. Until then and until the people felt confidence that peace was assured it was impossible to get that beginning of flow of international trade which was essential before prosperity could be widespread in Britain.

Abroad one of things that frightened him more than anything was the way in which parts of Europe which, unlike Britain, were not getting more prosperous. There were countries which were getting less and less prosperous, countries in which the standard of life, was becoming lower.

FEELING OF SECURITY

Until there was such a feeling of security in Europe that the nations could put vast sums of money and vast numbers of people who to-day were working on munitions into industry, he could see no chance of those countries becoming more prosperous. And conditions in which people were less prosperous, less happy, less comfortable, tended to make for less stability.

Lovers of freedom in those countries, he declared, were watching Britain at this time and were praying that she should stand firm.

There is nothing like 'Ovaltine'

UNLIKE imitations, 'Ovaltine' does not contain household sugar. Nor does it contain a large percentage of cocoa. It is obvious that 'Ovaltine' could be reduced in price by loading it with sugar, or by re-arranging the proportions of its ingredients. But it would then cease to possess its supreme health-giving properties.

You obtain quality when you buy 'Ovaltine'. It stands in a class alone. It is 100% nourishment—extracted from the finest malt, milk and eggs—prepared by an exclusive scientific process by a firm with a universal reputation as scientists in dietetics.

On account of its recognised merit 'Ovaltine' is the most widely prescribed food beverage in the world and is regularly used in hospitals, sanatoria and nursing homes.

For giving health and vitality—for ensuring sound sleep—for protecting against epidemics—there is nothing like 'Ovaltine'.

LOCAL FOOTBALL VIEWS AND REVIEWS

Good Fare Provided For Week-end

(By "PIVOT")

The return of the Chinese soccer teams to the soccer fields last week naturally heightened interest in the game and their followers were not disappointed either.

South China "A" last year's champion delighted a large crowd on the Navy ground by easily accounting for the Navy team by 6 goals to 1, while their "B" managed to force a draw against the Fusiliers much against the run of the play. The Chinese Athletic were unlucky to let East Lancs. get away with both points.

The standard of play during the week-end was high compared to other week-ends, and an unfortunate incident marred the South China "A"-Navy match when Cannell was given marching orders for alleged kicking against Tam Kong Pak who also came under the eye of the referee.

Lee Wai Tong as usual proved his versatility by scoring the "hat-trick" and was also responsible in a big way for the other three goals. They were quick to seize opportunities whenever offered, and their ability to shoot and pass was mainly responsible for their victory.

The Navy forwards were weak and lacked cohesion as a whole. Anywhere near goal they were unable to do the right thing. Given chances time and again they just about threw them to the wind when the forwards were unable to cope with the situation which demanded instant action. Their defence did a good day's work but was somewhat overrun by the speedy Chinese.

ATHLETIC SURPRISED
The Athletic-E. Lancs. game was fast and exciting. It was a ding-dong affair right along. Both sides dominated play at different stages of the game and in the first half the soldiers lost unpeeped chances in scoring when their forwards were palpably weak in front of goal. Harmsworth's clever display in goal in the second half literally put a stop to the Chinese dangerous attacks. He was here there and everywhere at one time and the many dangerous shots directed at his charge were ably turned away.

The Chinese were awarded a penalty when North handled but Tang Kwong Sum's resultant spot kick went wide. After the Chinese had attacked for the greater part of the second half the soldiers made a breakthrough and Lawton caught the Chinese keeper unaware with a drop shot from well up the half way line. The ball entered past the Chinese goalie who up till now had played a very fine game. The victory of one nil somewhat flattered the soldiers on the run of the game.

Yet another penalty was missed which might have been the deciding factor in the game had it been scored by the Fusiliers in their match against S. China "B" which however ended in a goalless draw. The soldiers did well on the whole and once again the weakness of a forward line was very noticeable. The soldiers attacked for the greater part of the game but found in Leung in Chan and Pau Ka Ping two stumbling blocks, the latter stopping everything that went his way between the sticks.

The Fusiliers as a team played better than the Chinese and should have won. Their defence was on top most of the time but was unable to get their forwards going. Rowlands as usual was himself in goal and was ably backed up by his pair of backs. Their inside presented a small problem to the Chinese and had the Chinese defence harried, but withal they lost their shooting boots. The penalty awarded the soldiers towards the end of the first half was missed by Harrison who, otherwise put in an excellent day's work.

POLICE BATTLED
The Guardians of the law were only able to divide the spoils with the Kowloon team after the home team was given a gruelling first half. Following upon pressure by the Police forwards Johnstone scored a lucky goal. This lead was short lived for immediately after the resumption Kowloon put on the screws and came back with repeated determined attacks. The equaliser came when D. Knox after a brilliant run down the wing sent in a perfect centre which Oppenheim sent in past McHardy with a first timer.

The game was very hotly contested throughout. The Police defence in fact both defences played a very able game and the result was a fair indication of play.

The Hong Kong Football Club defeated the Lincolns by the odd goal in three in a very disappointing affair. Both teams were not playing up to past standards. Ridley was about the only soldier who, did anything useful but was poorly supported. Higgins found in Syd Strange a very stubborn defender. The Club owed their success to him and Fowler who played a dashing game to enable him to score both of the goals.

Higgins equalised after Fowler had scored the first goal but Fowler's opportunism was rewarded when he met Bickford's centre with a first timer to put the issue beyond doubt, towards the end.

FLASH IN THE PAN?
Is St. Joseph's College earlier than only just a flash in the pan? This I believe can only be answered by the team itself. Against the R.A. (S) they went down by the odd goal in five. It was a very disappointing game the College boys played. No one seemed to have caught the spirit of the game and seemed to be suffering from inertia. With the exception of Costa who played a really magnificent game and ably backed-up by Sinclair the rest of the team was much below the usual standard of a second division team.

The Gunners deserved their victory as they were undoubtedly the better team of the two. They played the better game and where St. Joseph's lacked cohesion and understanding the soldiers more than made up for it by their cleverly conceived and well directed movements. Gardiner, Lewis and Hunt were the pick of the defence while Barracough and Forbes shone in the forward line.

The Recreio had no difficulty in defeating the lowly placed R.A. (L) team by 3 goals to two. The Portuguese boys were faster on the ball than the soldiers and their forwards worked with machine like precision. Alves on the left wing and B. Gosano in the centre forward berth played a great game. The Recreio's defence had the soldiers cleverly bottled.

THIS WEEK'S ENCOUNTERS
Seven senior games are down for decision during the week-end, five on Saturday and the balance on Sunday. The games that will be the attraction will undoubtedly be the Club-S. China "A" clash on Saturday and the Chinese Derby-Athletic S. China "B" on Sunday. These two games will be the drawing power for the week-end but another excellent clash is to be found in the Recreio Fusiliers game.

S. China has by their latest display against the Navy been favoured to triumph over the Club but the fact must not be overlooked that in the past the Club had always been the thorn in the Chinese team's march to Championship. Of course there is no saying what will happen in a game of this calibre and barring no unforeseen incidents South China "A" ought to win.

The absence of Chu Ah Fai and "Darkie" Chen from the Athletic side last week was sorely felt. Without their presence again this week their chances of beating the redoubtable S. China "B" are very slim. Granted that the Athletic has a team in the making but I do not think they are able to stand up against the fast and tricky S. China "B" forwards. In all probability a draw might be the result.

The Recreio-Fusiliers game should provide soccer fans with an entertaining exhibition of soccer. Both teams are playing as well as ever and the soldiers' heavier weight I think will not be much of a handicap to the Portuguese boys.

Sandford and Co. will have to surmount a very severe obstacle in the Rec's defence, ably taken charge of by the redoubtable A. V. Gosano. Keneghan will have his hands full in policing B. Gosano and his men and whatever the result might be a grand game will be the outcome.

Navy should get away with both points from the R.A. (L) while Police although putting up a sorry

HOCKEY

Mamak Tournay

The following have been selected to represent the Nomads against the Indian Police in their Mamak game on Sunday at the Police Training School. The game will commence at 4.30 p.m.
The team:—C. Soares, J. Souza, F. Barros, A. Xavier, R. J. Reed, S. Souza, R. M. Silva, R. C. Reed, S. A. Reed, C. Barros (Captain) and J. H. Franco.

ARGONAUTA WINS

In their Mamak tournament at the Marina ground yesterday, the Argonauta defeated the Royal Signals by the odd goal in five. Both teams set up a quick pace and some good hockey was witnessed.

Argonauta took the lead through A. M. Xavier who scored with a grounder which gave Deve no chances at all.
The lead was short-lived for Martin, playing at left wing, equalized for the Signallers. There was no more scoring in the first half.

After the breather, the Argonauta's forwards attacked strongly and the killing pace set by Signallers in the first half took effect at this stage and forced them to slacken and allow B. Gosano to break through and put them in the lead.

B. Gosano further enhanced their chances by netting another after a fine run.

CLUB DEFEATED

At the Y.M.C.A. ground (King's Park) yesterday, the Club de Re-crelo defeated the Club second string by 2 goals to nil in a friendly encounter.

The fast Portuguese forwards had the Club on the defensive throughout the game and scored the two goals in the first half with no reply from the Club.

L. G. Gosano, brother of the well-known footballer, created a favourable impression in his initial debut to-day by scoring the first goal. This was followed by another from the stick of G. Ribeiro who was also in the limelight. This was the last goal of the first half and incidentally of the game.

ANOTHER FRIENDLY GAME

In a friendly hockey game at the Navy ground (King's Park) yesterday, the Hong Kong Brigade of the H.K.S.R.A. beat the Navy "A" by 2 goals to one.

Both sides were of the same standard but the Indians were a shade faster. There was no score in the first half.

At the resumption, the Indians set up a fast pace which eventually cracked up the Navy's defence, and allowed Kishin Singh to score a beautiful goal.

The second goal was scored by Tara Singh from a penalty bully. No more goals were registered till the last ten minutes of the game when Lt. Bone scored the only goal for the losers after a smart movement by the forwards.

BILLIARDS

Hong Kong Has New Association

That the formation of a local Billiards Association had been a long felt want was the opinion voiced by several representatives at a meeting of cueists held at the "South China Morning Post" Board Room yesterday when representatives of various local Clubs attended.

Mr. E. D. da Rosa, was elected chairman of the meeting and in a few words deplored the absence of an Association.

Mr. M. N. Rakusen the temporary secretary also spoke stating that he was all for the formation of an association. An association formed would be able to organize competitive leagues and open championships and it was a real pity that the absence of it had deprived local cueists of this regular form of sports.

Mr. R. P. Phillips also supported the formation while support was promised by Lt. R. C. M. Kelly on behalf of the Army. Representatives from the Navy, the Portuguese, Chinese and other Clubs also supported the proposal.

On the proposal of Mr. Rosa and duly seconded, the Hong Kong Amateur Billiards Association was formed and was carried unanimously.

Mr. E. D. da Rosa was then elected President of the Association on the motion made by Mr. R. P. Phillips and seconded by Mr. A. W. Grimmett. Mr. Leong Kam Kwong was made vice-president and Mr. M. N. Rakusen was elected Hon. Secretary of the Association. The following committee was co-opted to draft rules and regulations for presentation at the next meeting: Lt. Kelly, Messrs: A. A. Remedios, W. Randall, A. J. Osmund, R. P. Phillips and Ng Sze Kwong.

Votes of thanks were expressed to Mr. Rosa, Mr. Rakusen and to the South China Morning Post for the use of their Board Room.

Those present were: Messrs: E. A. Remedios (Club Lusitano), T. G. Maguire (Cheero Club), R. Belbo (R.A. Sergus, Mess (L), Lt. R. C. M. Kelly (Hon. Sec. Garrison Area Billiards), A. J. Osmund (Catholic Union), L. A. Osmund (Kowloon Tong Club), Lea (R.N.), G. W. H. King (Lincolns), F. G. Barros (Liga Portuguesa), W. E. V. Woods (R.N.), P. E. Knight (G.S.C.C.), D. CHAMPION AT PLAY

In a friendly billiards game played between Mr. A. J. Osmund and Mr. E. P. de Silva respective champions of Hong Kong and Macao on Wednesday, the Macao Champion won by 200 to 148 points in a game of 200 points up. Silva played a very good game and at the end of the match it was agreed to continue the match to the 400 mark when the local champion then exerted himself and secured the 400 points to Silva's 306. It must be said that Osmund was called upon to play at a moment's notice and was unprepared for the game.

The highest individual break was Osmund 53 made in the second 200 and Silva 45 in the first 200. There were other smaller breaks.

For irritable Children

In the "Strand Magazine" of March 1933, the well-known food expert, Miss Kathleen Dane, writes:

"Many children of the irritable, nervous type, owe their state to a deficiency of organic salts, particularly calcium, notwithstanding the fact that the dietary appears to be properly balanced. Such youngsters do well when the diet is reinforced by a well-retained mineral food, such as 'Kalzana,' which medical men all over the country are now recommending."

Your quickly-growing child needs extra calcium to help the formation of straight bones, healthy teeth, and a strong constitution. Start your boy or girl on a course of Kalzana—you will be surprised at the all-around improvement. Irritability disappears, appetite returns and soon the formerly "difficult" child will be a happy, healthy youngster again.

SALVAGE OF THE S.S. HERVAR

Work Going Apace

Inch by inch the Hervar, which has lain at the bottom of the Whangpoo since last December 17, is being moved along the muddy bottom of the river to the China Merchants' Dock, Pootung. The process of raising the ship is much the same as with the tug boat St. Aubin, which was towed to a place in shallow water where it was possible to do repair work on her hull, pump the water out of her, and bring her to the surface.

For the past several months, work on the Hervar has been going on apace. First the mud was scooped away from her sides where it had lodged and settled in the many months that the ship has been sunk. Next, mud was taken out of her hold, releasing much of the weight of the ship, and finally tanks were placed inside into which was pumped air further to lighten the burden.

When all was in readiness cables were laid, ten in all. Four pontoons surrounded the Hervar, two on each side, and to these the cables were attached. They will be operated by cranes which will man winches, and when the tide is favourable, it is expected the Hervar will be lifted slightly off the bottom, and sent towards the Dock.

She cannot be lifted too high as the strain on her keel would be terrific, and she would be liable to snap in two, thus losing all chance of retrieving her.

When she is beached in water shallow enough the hole in her hull will be patched, and the water inside of her pumped out. It is believed that then she can be raised easily.

Upon being raised, extensive examination will be made to see about the possibility of recommissioning the ship. As yet, nothing is known as to whether or not she will again be fit for service.

SHIPS IN WIRELESS COMMUNICATION

The following ships are expected to be in wireless communication with Hong Kong radio:

General Pershing, President Grant, Shantung, Hawaii Maru, Peter Maersk, Benwyvis, Hai Chen, Cremer, Hong Kleng, Akagisan Maru, Tyndareus and President Polk.

NATIVE SHIPPING COMPANIES

Seek Relief From

For the third time, the request of the Shanghai Chinese Ship-owners Association for the flotation of $10,000,000 loan for the relief of native shipping firms has been rejected by the Ministry of Communications, according to the Chinese press.

As early as 1930, the local shipping firms asked the Government for permission to float a loan, but their suggestion was not endorsed by the Government. In July this year, a second request was made, but again it was turned down, on the ground that there was no security available for such a huge loan at the present.

The Chinese shipping firms have repeatedly asked the Government for financial assistance as they have been hard hit by business depression. No less than 40 Chinese ships are now idle in the Whangpoo.
